

The Association for Continuing Higher Education invites your participation in the

2017 ACHE Emerging Leader Institute

June 20-22, 2017. Loyola University Chicago

$1950 for ACHE Members ($2450 for Nonmembers) for program and on-site housing

Featuring higher education thought leaders, addressing topics which include cultivating a career; working with senior leadership; crisis management; and visionary change leadership in continuing education.

The Emerging Leader Institute will provide the opportunity to:

- Meet leaders in higher education innovation for discussion of relevant, contemporary issues.
- Network with other emerging continuing education leaders from across the country.
- Sharpen focus on professional pathways in higher education.

In this three-day institute, participants will attend sessions led by leaders in higher education, as well as supporting seminars for a combination of practical and theoretical approaches to professional development.

Please submit the following materials for consideration in the 2016 ACHE ELI cohort:

- 1) A 250-500 letter of introduction, providing background, including:
 - A short biography
 - Description of your current professional role, as well as your professional goals.
 - Personal philosophy on higher education leadership
- 2) A resume or CV
- 3) A letter of recommendation from:
 - A direct supervisor
 - An ACHE colleague
 - A Dean, Provost or President
- 4) Letter of support to finance participation in ELI from your institution or a letter stating your intention to personally finance participation

Please submit materials to admin@acheinc.org by February 28, 2017.
